General Information

2025 is the eighth season of action for the R&G British Talent Cup, which is now established as the sole British Moto3™ class in partnership with MSVR. A Cup for riders and teams, competitors are between 14 and 17 and race around the UK, alongside the British Superbike Championship and with a highlight alongside MotoGP™ at the British GP. Each BTC round comprises two races, with the points system mirroring that of MotoGP.

Each season there is the opportunity for promotion on the Road to MotoGP. The championship into which the selected rider is promoted is decided after studying the field throughout the year, in order to provide the opportunity that is the best fit for the chosen rider. The options are either the European Talent Cup, Red Bull MotoGP Rookies Cup or FIM JuniorGP™ World Championship.

Former BTC riders have already joined the Junior Talent Team, graduated to other teams in JuniorGP and are now taking on the world stage in Moto3.

The Series

For more than two decades, MotoGP has invested in opening the doors to motorcycle racing, creating the Road to MotoGP. Comprising initiatives all over the world providing millions of young riders the opportunity to excel, the Road to MotoGP is unrivalled in motorsport – opening doors, increasing access and racing towards global equality.

The R&G British Talent Cup began in 2018 as a competition for riders, racing on identical, BTC-liveried Honda NSF250Rs alongside BSB, WorldSBK and MotoGP™ events. From 2020, an agreement with British Championship promoter and organiser MotorSport Vision Racing (MSVR) saw the Cup expand and become the sole British Moto3™ class.

The BTC provides an opportunity for riders racing in the British Isles to learn on the Road to MotoGP™. Riders and teams can now enter the BTC and the blueprint for the regulations is the European Talent Cup in the JuniorGP paddock, which also races with Hondas.

The BTC is run by MSVR in collaboration with MotoGP rights holder Dorna Sports as part of our world-leading Road to MotoGP initiative.

DONINGTON PARK GP | ROUND 1

Donington | 17 - 19 April 2025

Back in action: the R&G British Talent Cup kicks off at Donington Park

Another season season of epic battles and close finishes lies ahead as the BTC gears up for Round 1 of 2025

The R&G British Talent Cup is back! 2025 welcomes more frantic action as well as records to be broken with a phenomenal season in the offing. There'll be new names coming in to shake up the order of the established front-runners, whilst household names from 2024 will seek to make gains over the next eight rounds and 18 races. It all starts from Donington Park – home to the closest finish of all-time in the class and where everyone will want stamp their authority from the start.

A winner twice at Donington Park in 2024, Ryan Frost (Fibretec Honda by MLav Racing) is the highest-placed returnee for the new season and gets set to renew reignite his battles with American Julian Correa (Mortimer Racing), who starts his season at a circuit where he's had three podiums and a pole. Another 2024 victor also returns as Filip Surowiak (City Lifting Team) aims to lift the trophy; he was a winner at Donington Park in 2024 and finished his season with a podium there too.

Leading the charge for a first victory, Clayton Edmunds (Clayton Edmunds) and Harrison Mackay (Kovara Projects/RS Racing) were both regular top ten finishers last year and aim to elevate themselves up the order starting this weekend, as does one of last year's star rookies Mason Foster (Mortimer Racing), who gears up for his second season of BTC action. One youngster to keep an eye on will be Lilly Rhodes (Wilson Racing), with the 15-year-old getting set to make her debut and position herself strongly from the off. In a field largely made up of British riders, two Americans will be competing: Correa will be joined once again by Joshua Raymond Jr (Fibretec Honda by MLav Racing), who was a points-scorer at Donington Park in his rookie year last year.

Tune in for the first weekend of the season as three races start us off in style!
